Dear Dale,

Per your request we have inquired with our tin plated steel and plastic suppliers on the base material used in manufacturing our button components on the utilization of recycled materials. The tin plated steel supplier issued the following information:

Steel is a unique material because it always contains recycled steel. Each year, millions of pre and post consumer steel products, including used steel cans, appliances, automobiles and construction materials, are recycled by steel mills into very ton of new steel produced.

The plastic supplier issued the following information:

Utility Grade Polystyrene sheet is produced using base materials that utilize 100% recycled materials.

If you should need any further information please let me know.

Sincerely,
